

Studies in Scottish Literature

Volume 13 | Issue 1

Article 23

1978

Contributors

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/ssl>

Part of the English Language and Literature Commons

Recommended Citation

(1978) "Contributors," Studies in Scottish Literature: Vol. 13: Iss. 1.

Available at: <https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/ssl/vol13/iss1/23>

This is brought to you by the Scottish Literature Collections at Scholar Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Studies in Scottish Literature by an authorized editor of Scholar Commons. For more information, please contact digres@mailbox.sc.edu.

Contributors to this Volume

- ANDRES, Sophia. B.A. from San Jose State University in 1973. Currently pursuing an M.A. in English literature at San Jose.
- BJORNSON, Richard. Associate Professor of Comparative Literature at The Ohio State University. His primary areas of interest include the history and theory of prose. He has published essays in Romantic Review, Comparative Literature and numerous other scholarly journals in Europe and the United States.
- DREXLER, Robert D. Ph.D., University of Chicago and currently Assistant Professor of English at Coe College, in Iowa. He is presently working on a book on William Dunbar.
- ELLER, Ruth. M.A., Smith in Drama. Taught for four years at The Bishop's Schools in La Jolla, California. Now working towards a doctorate at the University of California, Berkeley.
- GIFFORD, Douglas. Presently at the University of Strathclyde, Glasgow, has edited a number of volumes, including ones of Scottish short stories, and James Hogg. A contributor to several radio programs and series on Scottish writing, he is a regular reviewer of the arts in Scotland.
- JANSSEN, Judith Miller. Ph.D., University of Kentucky, has taught at Louisiana Tech University.

- JOHNSON, Richard E. Ph.D., University of Virginia, now on the faculty of the Cincinnati County Day School. Currently working on a book on Sir Walter Scott's historiography.
- KEARNS, Michael S. S.B. degree from MIT in 1971, now working towards a Ph.D. in English and American Literature at the University of California, Davis.
- MACAREE, David. Ph.D., University of Washington, is an Associate Professor of English at the University of British Columbia.
- MacLAINE, Allan. Professor of English at the University of Rhode Island, received his Ph.D. from Brown University. He has published books and a great number of articles on Scottish and English literature.
- MASON, Michael. B.Litt., Oxford. Since 1970 Lecturer in English at University College, London. Has published on Browning, George Eliot, Tennyson and James Joyce. Currently at work on a study of Victorian book illustration.
- MARSHALL, Keith. A member of the French Department, University College of North Wales. He is currently working on the cultural impact of France on Scotland during the second half of the 18th century, and on a bibliography of French works published in Scotland during that period.
- MEANS, James Andrew. M.Phil., London, and Ph.D., is Professor adjoint in the Faculté des lettres, Université Laval, Québec. He edited The Grave for the Augustan Reprint Society, and has published on Dryden, Pope and Collins. Presently gathering material for a critical edition of the satires of Robert Gould.
- O'FLAHERTY, Patrick. Professor in the Department of English at the Memorial University of Newfoundland at St. John's.
- RAY, Philip. Now an Assistant Professor of English at Connecticut College, has taught at Yale and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. He has worked on the metaphors of Edmund Burke, and is interested in the relationship between literature and politics.
- REWA, Michael. Ph.D., Stanford, and former Fulbright Fellow at the University of Edinburgh, is an Associate Professor of English at the University of Delaware. Publications include notes on Boswell, and essays on Johnson, Defoe, biography, and style in biography.

SCHIBANOFF, Susan. Assistant Professor of English at the University of New Hampshire.

SCOTT, Alexander. Head of the Department of Scottish Literature, University of Glasgow. Well-known poet, whose Selected Poems, 1943-1974 has recently been published. In addition to his own dramas, radio and television plays, he has written several studies on Scottish literature, and edited many publications.

SHORT, Douglas D. Ph.D., Duke University, now Associate Professor of English at North Carolina State University. He has published articles on Old English language and literature and on Thomas Hardy.