The Daily Gamecock, Thursday, September 28, 2017

University of South Carolina, Office of Student Media

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/gamecock_2017_sep

Recommended Citation
https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/gamecock_2017_sep/2
For one hour a week, a third floor gym of the Blatt P.E. Center is filled with the sounds of small children rather than those of group exercise classes or intramural basketball as Camp Carolina takes over.

Held every semester, the six-week program provides an adapted physical education experience to local children with disabilities. For the student volunteers who run the camp, it’s a chance to get practical experience that will carry over after graduation.

“The value for the [children] is that sometimes they do not necessarily feel included or important in their physical education classes, so here they can be around similar peers, feel important, feel included so that they can be fully engaged,” said Ali Brian, a professor of physical education within the College of Education. “For our students, they’re all physical education majors, so it gives them some experience with teaching students with disabilities.”

Brian created the program alongside third-year doctoral candidate Sally Taunton when both were brand new to Carolina.

“I saw that there was not really a lot opportunities for young kids with disabilities to participate in sports and physical activity, so since there was not a lot already existing in the community we decided to build it here,” Taunton said.

For one week a week, a third-floor gym of the Blatt P.E. Center is filled with the sounds of small children rather than those of group exercise classes or intramural basketball as Camp Carolina takes over.

Held every semester, the six-week program provides an adapted physical education experience to local children with disabilities. For the student volunteers who run the camp, it’s a chance to get practical experience that will carry over after graduation.

“The value for the [children] is that sometimes they do not necessarily feel included or important in their physical education classes, so here they can be around similar peers, feel important, feel included so that they can be fully engaged,” said Ali Brian, a professor of physical education within the College of Education. “For our students, they’re all physical education majors, so it gives them some experience with teaching students with disabilities.”

Brian created the program alongside third-year doctoral candidate Sally Taunton when both were brand new to Carolina.

“I saw that there was not really a lot opportunities for young kids with disabilities to participate in sports and physical activity, so since there was not a lot already existing in the community we decided to build it here,” Taunton said.
New hotels may come to Columbia

A spike in tourism in downtown Columbia has caught the interest of hotel companies large and small. The State reports that Mayor Steve Benjamin is in talks with as many as 18 hotel companies about possible projects. Fred Dell, executive director of Columbia Development Corp., is aware of as many as five possible projects in the Vista, according to the same report. Studies show that occupancy rates in Columbia have risen by upwards of 6 percent in the last four years.

—Compiled by Mary Kemeny, News Editor
The first time many of the ideas and his extensive plans for the election, Johnson wrote out currently and unofficially. “So, Resident Government is more of an alias that we use ‘Resident Government’ in favor of proceeding with the soon-to-be-proposed constitution as well as the executive board to create a website under the name Residence Government, residence.gov. He also began using ‘Resident Government’ and other currently unofficial terminology in official correspondence.

Last year the cabinet voted on legislation he seeks to get approved. While Johnson wasn’t required to seek feedback from the rest of the executive board on legislation he seeks to get approved, some members of the board feel that their experience and perspective should be involved in the conversation. (He’s bypassing asking people that are the most qualified, Warren said.)

The newly elected RHA senate is composed of 99 percent freshmen who are required to seek feedback on legislation, according to Johnson. They don’t even understand how RHA has worked in the past, how it’s supposed to work,” Warren said.

Both he and Myers expressed reservations about how Johnson presents the proposed constitution as the new “constitution and the current constitution as ‘old’ to the new senators. He doesn’t think that the majority freshman makeup of the board feel that their experience and perspective should be involved in the conversation. (He’s bypassing asking people that are the most qualified, Warren said.)

The newly elected RHA senate is composed of 99 percent freshmen who are required to seek feedback on legislation, according to Johnson. They don’t even understand how RHA has worked in the past, how it’s supposed to work,” Warren said.

Both he and Myers expressed reservations about how Johnson presents the proposed constitution as the new “constitution and the current constitution as ‘old’ to the new senators. He doesn’t think that the majority freshman makeup of the board feel that their experience and perspective should be involved in the conversation. (He’s bypassing asking people that are the most qualified, Warren said.)

The newly elected RHA senate is composed of 99 percent freshmen who are required to seek feedback on legislation, according to Johnson. They don’t even understand how RHA has worked in the past, how it’s supposed to work,” Warren said.

Both he and Myers expressed reservations about how Johnson presents the proposed constitution as the new “constitution and the current constitution as ‘old’ to the new senators. He doesn’t think that the majority freshman makeup of the board feel that their experience and perspective should be involved in the conversation. (He’s bypassing asking people that are the most qualified, Warren said.)

The newly elected RHA senate is composed of 99 percent freshmen who are required to seek feedback on legislation, according to Johnson. They don’t even understand how RHA has worked in the past, how it’s supposed to work,” Warren said.

Both he and Myers expressed reservations about how Johnson presents the proposed constitution as the new “constitution and the current constitution as ‘old’ to the new senators. He doesn’t think that the majority freshman makeup of the board feel that their experience and perspective should be involved in the conversation. (He’s bypassing asking people that are the most qualified, Warren said.)

The newly elected RHA senate is composed of 99 percent freshmen who are required to seek feedback on legislation, according to Johnson. They don’t even understand how RHA has worked in the past, how it’s supposed to work,” Warren said.
In light of Columbia's total solar eclipse and monthly First Thursday tradition, Tapp's Arts Center became home to a two-month "house party" that required no special invite.

Executive director Caitlin Bright was responsible for organizing the exhibit. Tapp's seeks to push artists' boundaries, not only in the creativity of their art, but also in presentation, often finding ways to exhibit work in a refreshing way.

Bright asked the Midlands Clay Arts Society to work on designing a themed exhibition for Tapp's Windows. Both the City of Columbia's Art Center and MCAS are moving to downtown Columbia, so she saw it as an opportunity to bring local artists together.

"The Midlands Clay Arts Society is an amalgam local group of artists, whose works vary...but they came together and created a cohesive story to present their work while highlighting their individual talents," Bright said.

The exhibition was very popular among passersby and drew attention to an otherwise unannounced local group of artists.

"It has attracted every walk of life and interest to the windows and has been a great way to celebrate and share the talent of clay artists in Columbia," Bright said.

Donato says you don't have to like or "get" a piece in order to fully understand and respect it.

"What you have to do is remove your own personal opinions from the equation and just appreciate that you're looking at an entire creative process, start to finish," and Donate.

The party closes its doors Sept. 28, but pictures of featured pieces can be viewed on MCAS's Instagram channel.

Tapp's is open Tuesday-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Its next exhibition, Wild in Wonderland, features work by USC painting professor Linda Blanding Street.

Executive director Caitlin Bright was responsible for organizing the exhibit. According to MCAS, the exhibition features numerous clay pieces that showcased "all the creative, beautiful and functional ways clay can be used in the home."

A couple of works by MCAS members include "The Seeker," a piece by Debbie Patwin that modeled a deer skin hammock, and "Tea-and-Tarts," a set by Chantelle Janelle that modeled tea cups and tea plates. Exhibition pieces were displayed inside four windows on Main Street and seven windows on Blanding Street.

The Midlands Clay Arts Society is an amalgam of clay artists, whose works vary...but they came together and created a cohesive story to present their work while highlighting their individual talents, Bright said.

The Tapp's exhibit in collaboration with MCAS first opened Aug. 3. MCAS invited guests to celebrate opening day as an exhibitor. She stated that "[her] education gave [her] a deeper understanding of what exactly goes into creating a cohesive exhibition of work."

The exhibition was very popular among passersby and drew attention to an otherwise unannounced local group of artists. The exhibition was very popular among passersby and drew attention to an otherwise unannounced local group of artists.

"It has attracted every walk of life and interest to the windows and has been a great way to celebrate and share the talent of clay artists in Columbia," Bright said.

Donato says you don't have to like or "get" a piece in order to fully understand and respect it.

"What you have to do is remove your own personal opinions from the equation and just appreciate that you're looking at an entire creative process, start to finish," and Donate.

The party closes its doors Sept. 28, but pictures of featured pieces can be viewed on MCAS's Instagram channel.

Tapp's is open Tuesday-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Its next exhibition, Wild in Wonderland, features work by USC painting professor Linda Blanding Street.

Local artists from Midlands Clay Arts Society collaborated with Tapp's Arts Center to decorate storefront windows in Columbia with colorful, functional sculptures.

Comedian talks Columbia show, career

Brad Duvoz
©PIXELIO

Stand-up comedian and actor Deon Cole will be performing at The Comedy House on Oct. 13 and 14. Cole is best known as a writer and performer on "Conan," as well as for appearing on the Emmy nominated show "black-ish" and for his stand-up career. In September, his new game show "Face Value" premieres on BET.

According to Cole's Wikipedia page, he got into stand-up based on a $50 bet his friend made that he would not get stage fright. It would turn out to be true until you hear from the man himself.

"Yeah, absolutely, it's very true. My friend bet me like $50 I won't go on stage and never looked back," Cole said.

Cole has a lasting career based on that one night. He loves the freedom that comes with stand-up and how it makes him feel more comfortable himself.

"It comes from stuff that I think of. It's nothing that someone told me to say...I have to figure out how to say something that comes from my mind," Cole said of his comedy.

Cole has had success as both a comedian and actor. He has appeared in all three "Barbershop" movies and has worked alongside one of the legends in the industry, Conan O'Brien. One of the best pieces of advice O'Brien had for Cole was: "Every one moment can be magical. Take the moment for what it is and embrace it and make it for what it is. For when those magical moments come, then you'll know it."

"That was a great piece of advice for me because it made me feel less, less down when I didn't perform the way that I really wanted to," Cole said.

For Cole, even if stand-up can be less straightforward than acting, it has benefits that can't be matched.

"Stand-up is therapeutic. It's me, it comes from my mind, and acting is more of an escape where I become someone else," he said.

Cole has four shows in 2017. He stars in "black-ish," spinoff "Grown-ish" coming in 2018, "Angie Tribeca," and his new game show, "Face Value." On "Face Value," contestants judge others' lives based only on the other person's social media posts. Cole will be co-hosting the show alongside Tiffany Haddish.

"It's not a biased show, it show both sides of people being judged and the judges," Cole said.

In increasingly turbulent times, people have an inclination to shut out their views and ignore everyone else's. That may be the most convenient way of handling it, but Cole has a more hopeful view on how TV and the media can represent and respect as many people's voices as possible.

"It's all about perspective, and if you judge everyone on their own perspective, you get a lot more options," Cole said. "I think the more that we see that
For many of the members, getting involved in the organization was easy and rigid. For some, dance is an intensive sport. For others, it's an expression of freedom and a way to have fun and to have an outlet for stress is very valuable, and it will follow me for the rest of my life.

Taylor Washington @Taylor Washington

“As NASA, we all pee the same color!” Kevin O'Leary, Swype’s president, summing up how Swype president Lexus Dickson asked interested can join Swype without anyone who is interested can join Swype without having to worry about auditioning or being cut. Although most dance groups at USC require an audition, Swype’s members only need a willingness to learn and to have fun. For many of the members, getting involved in the organization was easy because each person brings to the table.”

Lexus Dickson said.

For some, dance is an intensive sport. For others, it’s an expression of freedom and a way to have fun and to have an outlet for stress is very valuable, and it will follow me for the rest of my life.

“Because of it, I have become more open and more willing to take risks. It is also a helpful de-stressor, and that has made me more confident in my academic endeavors,” Nematollahi said. Swype also prides itself on being active in the community, and Dickson said part of how they do this is social media. “Social media shows what opportunities are available to come see us and what the practices look like,” Dickson said. “We snapshot every rehearsal so that the USC community can see what we are doing.”

Swype also prides itself on being all-inclusive and accepting. “I’ll have to be a larger part of the hip-hop community and the way Swype has allowed me in to that community will help me in the future, whether it is recreationally or competition-based. Being able to have an outlet for stress is very valuable, and I will follow me for the rest of my life.”

For many of the members, getting involved in the organization was easy and rigid. For some, dance is an intensive sport. For others, it’s an expression of freedom and a way to have fun and to have an outlet for stress is very valuable, and it will follow me for the rest of my life.
YOU CAN JOIN!

If you are a student, faculty or staff member, you are eligible to join Founders Federal Credit Union! Visit RelaxJoinFounders.com to complete the application process and see what Founders membership can do for you!
Gamecocks set to face “most explosive” offense yet

Ben Parsons 10/17/2017

After an impressive comeback victory over Louisiana Tech, the South Carolina football team is looking to ride that momentum into Kyle Field when it takes on Texas A&M on Saturday.

The kickoff marks a crucial stretch of six straight SEC games.

“I don’t think there’s any question that this is the most explosive offense we’ve had to face all year,” head coach Will Muschamp said.

The Aggies are coming off a 50-point performance against Arkansas. Freshman quarterback Kellen Mond threw for 216 yards and two touchdowns, while adding a team-high 109 yards on the ground to jump-start the Texas A&M offense that had been struggling to find its rhythm since the season opener against UCLA.

“It is always hard to defend a mobile quarterback, because you’re outnumbered when it comes to blockers and stuff,” linebacker Skai Moore said.

“He is going to take a shot on a play. It’s a little difficult but you just gotta make plays and you just gotta make it happen.”

The Gamecocks will need to be disciplined defensively if they want to limit the impact the dual threat could have on the field.

Not only do the Gamecocks have to be able to contain the young quarterback, but also they have to account for the Aggies’ running back duo, Keith Ford and Trayveon Williams. Both Williams and Ford have consistently powered their team over the last few weeks with combined Gameday touchdowns on the season.

“The two backs they’ve got are big- time runners, guys that are going to create space,” Muschamp said. “They’ll get in one-on-one matchups, and you don’t want to have to tackle in space and get lords of those guys on the ground. They can take the ball anywhere. They run the zone extremely well. They can become all the way to the backside. They do a dynamic job with both Keith Ford (and Trayveon Williams).”

Moose said the Gamecocks have settled into their “hend don’t break” identity on defense, and will focus on specific reads to stay ahead of Mond, Ford and Williams.

“At certain times, when they get in their drop, it depends on them and the running backs’ movement and stuff,” Moore said. “So like where he goes and we’ll react off that, because usually sometimes, he won’t make a certain movement unless it’s like a draw or draw draw. So when we see that key movement, then we know he’ll kind of go hit or just dropping back of coverage and just wait and he patiently. We just read their two gaps.”

Dual threat quarterbacks and dynamic running backs have haunted the Gamecocks over the past few seasons, but this week will have to change if they want to make a statement in the SEC East.

One thing’s for sure: The South Carolina defense will have its work cut out for itself on Saturday in College Station, especially with one-on-one matchups.

“They’ve got guys that can win in one-on-one situations,” Muschamp said. “Again, I think we’ll continue to evolve opponents. We’ll capitalize on more situations that we haven’t had the last two weeks and put more points on the board.”

Muschamp discusses national anthem with players

Brandon Alter 10/17/2017

College football may have been mostly protest-free this weekend, but that doesn’t mean coaches didn’t have to talk about the latest political news that has seeped into the sports world.

After President Donald Trump made negative comments about NFL players who did not stand during the national anthem and suggested team owners should “fire” those players, many NFL teams joined in on the demonstration Sunday.

While college football players are not on the field during the singing of the national anthem, South Carolina head coach Will Muschamp said Tuesday he discussed the subject with his players.

“Today we talked to our team about the people that stood up for what they believed a long time ago about this country, and that’s why we are where we are today,” Muschamp said. “But certainly, standing up for what you believe in is extremely important to me, and I addressed that with our players.”

The knelling demonstrations started more than a year ago when then San Francisco 49ers quarterback Colin Kaepernick sat, then later kneltled, during the national anthem to protest the social injustices he believes many African-Americans face in the United States.

Former Gamecock Mike Davis tweeted on Sunday during the game. “Players have said a million times that the protest is not to disrespect the flag or military but people continue to IGNORER THAT.”

One person responded by tweeting: “Free speech works both ways you get it – but we are allowed to be offended when millionaires kidnap the Anthem and flag.”

Davis replied, “What does having money got to do with anything. I wish I was a millionaire.”

According to Davis’ comments on Twitter, the protest is not about the flag itself but is about the impact of the anthem and those in their day to day lives.

Heading into the weekend, the question is whether the protest was a one-time occurrence if the players will keep their protest going to continue the conversations on the issues they feel need to be addressed.
Gamecock hockey will hit the road for the first time this season with a Fri-Saturday doubleheader against the UNC Wilmington Seahawks. Carolina will come into this matchup riding high after Friday’s 3-1 win over Clemson. The Gamecock defense surrendered only two shots as goaltender Bally Bremmer held the Tigers off the scoreboard for the game’s first 15 minutes.

On offense, the line of newcomer Ben Smith, Jack Watson and Ian Schlender has worked nicely, with each three players registering points against Clemson. Experienced scorers Sam Davis and Jake Tengi already have UNC’s number, having combined for 10 points in three games against the Seahawks in 2015-16.

On the other side, UNCW is facing key departures both on offense and in goal. Standing an imposing 6’5” and senior Damion Ratley, so to see the Gamecocks lose, 24-13, in the 50th minute and Pyle totaled a career-high 113 yards on the game’s first play from scrimmage, A.J. Turner ran 75 yards for a touchdown for a thrilling overtime win against Tennessee.

Lauren Chang scored the game-winning goal in overtime against Tennessee on Sunday.

Despite Carolina being a true Snow belt team last fall. Though leading 20-16, the Gamecocks fell 24-13 to the Volunteers.

South Carolina men’s soccer players Lucy Mayr and William Pye swept Conference USA’s weekly awards, which were announced on Monday.

Mayr was named Offensive Player of the Week and entrepreneur Andrew Hannon, who has been one of Kellen Mond’s most important — not only for this season, but for the rest of his career. Hannon has helped the Gamecocks with 10 points, in the latest NCAA RPI rankings, Carolina is No. 3 overall in the nation.

Logan Jennes

Soccer racks up weekly conference honors

A&M running back duo picks up big game

The Daily Gamecock

Carson Mason

The South Carolina football team is still searching for its first win against SEC-faring UF, but is ready to face Texas A&M. The Gamecocks will have their chance on Saturday when they take on the Aggies in the fourth all-time meeting between the two teams.

The last time these teams faced, the Gamecocks kept it close, but suffered a 24-13 loss in Columbia. Running back AJ Turner ran 75 yards for a touchdown on the game’s first play from scrimmage, and tallied a career-high 151 yards on 23 carries. The Gamecocks ran for 328 yards and depth and a tough road environment makes the Gamecocks will be looking for a similar standout performance from offensive players.

“The thing one thing I really saw was that there was a lot of growth from this young team that A&M has,” said the Gamecocks’ fourth-year coach. “It’s a lot of pressure for the Gamecocks. But coming into this game, he’s relentless in all of the categories is senior safety Armani Dodson. He leads the team in tackles, TFLs, interceptions and pass breakups.

A&M’s quarterback is a leader and makes it hard for any of the categories to step on the ball it would have to be sophomore Logan Jennes.

A&M’s quarterback is a leader and makes it hard for any of the categories to step on the ball it would have to be sophomore Logan Jennes.

A&M’s quarterback is a leader and makes it hard for any of the categories to step on the ball it would have to be sophomore Logan Jennes.

A&M’s quarterback is a leader and makes it hard for any of the categories to step on the ball it would have to be sophomore Logan Jennes.
FALL 2018 LEASING BEGINS OCTOBER 9TH!

MILLSLIVING.COM | PALMETTOCOMPRESS.COM

SCHEDULE YOUR TOUR TODAY!

803.667.3705

PMCPROPERTYGROUP
I have served as a senator in the Student Government Association in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

Let’s start with the Residence Hall Association’s senate actually does. In practice, I was required to show up or send someone in my place every week at point. At which time, there would be proposed changes to the entire residence hall governments or student organizations for money. The money was almost always approved by large margins, with only one or two genuinely controversial votes the entire year.

Incidentally, the main job of the Student Government’s legislative branch is also approving funds requested by student organizations. I really don’t see why they can’t get from individual residence hall governments as well and save everyone some precious time. This would also reduce confusion over where organizations need to go or should get money approved.

I also don’t think that the student body has given RHA any reason to exist except for the money it gives them. Stronger, even the vaguely important RHA Student Government struggles to pass some of the simplest of bills in that legislature. Truth be told, I’m not sure how many students even know that the RHA senate exists.

Hall governments are more important, since they plan actual events and attempt to improve resident life. I’m not sure that residence halls shouldn’t have presidents, but there’s no need to go that far. What I am saying is that the RHA senate can transfer all of its duties to Student Government and that would happen is that many residence hall governments actually show up or send someone in their place.

While we’re talking about overhauling the RHA senate, I suggest they should seriously consider abolishing it entirely and stop pretending that they have any more importance or relevance than they actually do.

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

Don't strengthen RHA Senate get rid of it.

Thalia Hobson
First-year marine science student

I have served as a senator in the Student Government Association in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

Let’s start with the Residence Hall Association’s senate actually does. In practice, I was required to show up or send someone in my place every week at point. At which time, there would be proposed changes to the entire residence hall governments or student organizations for money. The money was almost always approved by large margins, with only one or two genuinely controversial votes the entire year.

Incidentally, the main job of the Student Government’s legislative branch is also approving funds requested by student organizations. I really don’t see why they can’t get from individual residence hall governments as well and save everyone some precious time. This would also reduce confusion over where organizations need to go or should get money approved.

I also don’t think that the student body has given RHA any reason to exist except for the money it gives them. Stronger, even the vaguely important RHA Student Government struggles to pass some of the simplest of bills in that legislature. Truth be told, I’m not sure how many students even know that the RHA senate exists.

Hall governments are more important, since they plan actual events and attempt to improve resident life. I’m not sure that residence halls shouldn’t have presidents, but there’s no need to go that far. What I am saying is that the RHA senate can transfer all of its duties to Student Government and that would happen is that many residence hall governments actually show up or send someone in their place.

While we’re talking about overhauling the RHA senate, I suggest they should seriously consider abolishing it entirely and stop pretending that they have any more importance or relevance than they actually do.

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]

What is the solution to this issue, you may ask? It’s simple really. As students, we need to stop the overuse of the senate or should go to get money where organizations need to. Even the vastly overhauled RHA senate needs to exist at all. I have served as a senator in the Student Government in the past. I can tell you from personal experience that changes to make the organization seem more legitimate or professional are not pointless, and I do have serious doubts as to whether RHA needs to exist at all.

[LETTER TO THE EDITOR REQUIREMENTS]
PHD • JORGE CHAM

THE SCENE
between 4pm & 6pm daily.
evenings and weekends.
required, availability for barmen.
Pasta Fresca is seeking together with Pluto

long-term possibilities, see the real you. Create partner. Let another relationship with your conversations,
Let go of limiting
yourself and others.

Hidden truths to discover.
Contemplate spiritual of death and rebirth, with Pluto direct in Capricorn.
Master your power, with Pluto direct. Release relationships, with Pluto direct. You can see power dynamics and represented. An epiphany the way. Discover control. An epiphany

Cancer
Let go of limiting relationships, especially in the relationship with your partner. Let another see the role you create. Consider long-term possibilities,
with Pluto direct.

Aquarius
Hidden truths with community efforts get
revealed, with Pluto
direct. Give up power struggles or desires for cosmic evolution.
Discover your true
friends.

Leao
Nature improves your health and works with Pluto direct. Release
anxieties and habits to
allow you to emerge.
Epiphanies catalyze
revealed realities.

Virgo
Let go of filters around
trust and uncertainty
benefit your relationship, with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Release of negative
patterns. Create true
love.

Scorpio
Hidden facts get revealed. Use
diaphony around love,
power dynamics and
change, with Pluto
direct. You can see what’s missing.
Keep your word.
Share your discoveries.

Sagittarius
Release limitations with Pluto in your sign. Abandon fears of humiliation or low self-worth to grow. Create
a new personal identity
that intersects
yourself.

Capricorn
You can see your limiting monologues,
with Pluto direct in your sign. Abandon fears of humiliation or low self-
worth to grow. Create
a new personal identity
that intersects
yourself.

Sagittarius
Nature improves your
health and works with Pluto direct. Release
anxieties and habits to
allow you to emerge.
Epiphanies catalyze
revealed realities.

Taurus
Let go of filters around
trust and uncertainty
benefit your
relationship, with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Release of negative
patterns. Create true
love.

Taurus
Hidden truths with community efforts get
revealed, with Pluto
direct. Give up power
struggles or desires for
cosmic evolution.
Discover your true
friends.

Leao
Nature improves your health and works with Pluto direct. Release
anxieties and habits to
allow you to emerge.
Epiphanies catalyze
revealed realities.

Virgo
Let go of filters around
trust and uncertainty
benefit your
relationship, with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Release of negative
patterns. Create true
love.

Scorpio
Hidden facts get revealed. Use
diaphony around love,
power dynamics and
change, with Pluto
direct. You can
see what’s missing.
Keep your word.
Share your discoveries.

Aries
Gain professional recognition with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Mysteries put solved as the truth gets revealed. Interesting opportunities arise.
You can see a shining future.

Taurus
Experience a metamorphosis.
Release old limitations
and spread your wings, with Pluto direct in Capricorn. Changes require adaptation. Be prepared.

Gemini Increase the integrity of your bookkeeping with Pluto direct in Capricorn.
Changes require adaptation.
Be honest and kind with yourself and others.

Cancer
Let go of limiting cornerstones, especially in the relationship with your partner. Let another see the role you create. Consider
long-term possibilities,
with Pluto direct.

Aquarius
Hidden truths with community efforts get
revealed, with Pluto
direct. Give up power
struggles or desires for
cosmic evolution.
Discover your true
friends.

Leao
Nature improves your health and works with Pluto direct. Release
anxieties and habits to
allow you to emerge.
Epiphanies catalyze
revealed realities.

Virgo
Let go of filters around
trust and uncertainty
benefit your
relationship, with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Release of negative
patterns. Create true
love.

Scorpio
Hidden facts get revealed. Use
diaphony around love,
power dynamics and
change, with Pluto
direct. You can
see what’s missing.
Keep your word.
Share your discoveries.

Sagittarius
Release limitations
with Pluto in your sign. Abandon fears of humiliation or low self-
worth to grow. Create
a new personal identity
that intersects
yourself.

Capricorn
You can see your
limiting monologues,
with Pluto direct in your sign. Abandon fears of humiliation or low self-
worth to grow. Create
a new personal identity
that intersects
yourself.

Sagittarius
Nature improves your
health and works with Pluto direct. Release
anxieties and habits to
allow you to emerge.
Epiphanies catalyze
revealed realities.

Taurus
Let go of filters around
trust and uncertainty
benefit your
relationship, with Pluto
direct in Capricorn.
Release of negative
patterns. Create true
love.
GOOD LUCK GAMECOCKS!

PETRO
Stopping Centers®

I-77, Exit 5 (Bluff Road)
2154 South Beltline Blvd.

FREE ANY SIZE  SODA

MINIT MART
LIFE IN THE GO!

Expires 9/21/17

QUAKER STEAK & LUBE
BEST WINGS USA

MUSIC BINGO MONDAYS @ 6:30PM
TEAM TRIVIA WEDNESDAYS @ 7:00PM

BELTLINE LANES
BOWL & GAMES

50% OFF BOWLING
MONDAY - THURSDAY
10AM-5PM
ALL SEPTEMBER LONG