THE SOUTH CAROLINA LAW QUARTERLY

EDITORIAL SECTION

THE LAW SCHOOL

Continuing its accelerated program, the Law School offered a complete sixteen week semester during the summer, and the administration was greeted with numerous students eager to carry on in spite of the intense heat and the heavy work load. The entire faculty of the Law School has been operating on a twelve month basis for the past three years, and they are to be commended for their tireless efforts in this time of great need due to the backlog created by the war.

The Order of the Wig and Robe, which is the organization of the Law School whose membership is selected solely on scholastic eminence, initiated two new members—William Edwards Murray and Gasper Loren Toole—because of their superior standings in the senior class. Mr. Murray is a native of Charleston, South Carolina, and Mr. Toole hails from Aiken, South Carolina.

The site for the new law building has been selected and the designs determined upon, from which the architects—Simons and Lapham of Charleston—are getting out the plans and specifications, thus our dream is fast becoming a reality. for this much needed expansion and increase of facilities is now past the embryo stage. All who have had a part in the formulation and expedition of this worthy project deserve our sincere gratitude which we heartily extend to them.

The Law Federation, which consists of the entire student body of the Law School, has been most active throughout the summer, both by service to the school and by providing social entertainment for the faculty and students, alike. The Federation functions through committees primarily, as provided by its constitution, and the individual work of each one is too varied and detailed to fully describe here, but the general picture can be seen from the list of these committees, with the chairman of each:

The Program Committee.....	James L. Gibbs
The Building Committee.....	George S. King
The Library Committee.....	Frank A. Lyles
The Professional Integration Committee.....	Richard L. Breeland
The Publicity Committee.....	LeRoy M. Want
The Social Committee.....	Robert N. Cannon
The Publications Committee.....	William B. Tyson

The present officers of the Law Federation are: President, Eugene McCaskill of Conway, South Carolina; vice-president, J. M. Spigner of Columbia, South Carolina; secretary-treasurer, Eli Walker of Columbia, South Carolina; and sergeant-at-arms, June Yarborough of Timmons ville, South Carolina.

The Honorable David W. Robinson, one of the outstanding attorneys of the Columbia, South Carolina Bar, very attractively presented an address on practice in the Federal Courts with emphasis on the new rules that have recently been adopted. Great benefit was realized by the students, and the true value will be appreciated in future practice by them.

At the time we go to press, we are looking forward to a lecture to be given the law students in Prof. E. W. Mullins' class in Federal Practice, by Judge George Bell Timmerman of the United States District Court in South Carolina.
