

9-1952

Editor's Foreward

J. F. Buzhardt Jr.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/sclr>

Part of the Law Commons

Recommended Citation

Buzhardt, J. F. Jr. (1952) "Editor's Foreward," South Carolina Law Review. Vol. 5 : Iss. 1 , Article 3.
Available at: <https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/sclr/vol5/iss1/3>

This Presentation is brought to you by the Law Reviews and Journals at Scholar Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in South Carolina Law Review by an authorized editor of Scholar Commons. For more information, please contact digres@mailbox.sc.edu.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA LAW QUARTERLY

VOL. 5

SEPTEMBER, 1952

NO. 1

EDITOR'S FOREWORD

The inherent sovereign powers of the executive branch of the Federal Government, particularly as affected by the recent steel seizures by the President, are the subject of investigation and discussion in the first article presented in this issue. Mr. Arthur Williams' analysis serves to clarify and explain the issues involved in this much discussed and often confused subject.

Trial lawyers should find the second article both interesting and helpful, for it presents an experienced trial judge's views and recommendations on the conduct of a trial. This straight-forward presentation of the law and applied psychology as it affects each phase of the trial of a case is authored by Circuit Judge G. Duncan Bellinger.

New developments in the ever changing field of federal taxation require an increasing amount of study and reflection by the practicing attorney in order to keep abreast of this subject which today bears on almost every transaction. In an effort to assist the Bar in this effort, the QUARTERLY presents in its third article a discussion of recent changes in the tax law which affect transfers, ably written by Mr. Marion Wannamaker.

This is the last issue to be published under the present staff. On behalf of the retiring staff, I would like to congratulate Mr. Carl W. Littlejohn, Jr., the new Editor-in-Chief, and his staff, and to wish them success in their undertaking.

J. F. BUZHARDT, JR.

