INTRODUCTION

This selective, annotated bibliography of primary, secondary, and reference materials useful in the practice of law in South Carolina is intended for law librarians, attorneys, judges and law faculty who occasionally deal with South Carolina legal sources. It is not my intent to provide a comprehensive guide for South Carolina legal research. I have excluded general practice materials without a specific South Carolina focus and titles written for the lay person.

In addition, I have preferred newer materials, published in the past 10 years, although I have included some of the "classics" of South Carolina law. This bibliography includes materials available through the end of August 1998. Most materials reviewed were found at the Coleman Karesh Law Library of the University of South Carolina.

South Carolina State Bar Continuing Legal Education Division ("S.C. Bar CLE Division") materials have been included when there was no other title in the topic or category and because South Carolina attorneys rely on these publications heavily in their legal practice.

This bibliography is organized in the following manner: "General Publications" comprised of reference research tools and primary sources; "Periodicals" arranged by general, topical and newspapers; "Electronic Resources" consisting of CD-ROM products and Internet resources; and "Topical Materials" alphabetically arranged by categories. Special attention has been paid to electronic resources such as Web sites¹ and CD-ROM products.

GENERAL PUBLICATIONS

Reference

Mills, Robin K. and Schultz, John S. South Carolina Legal Research Handbook. Buffalo, N.Y.: William S. Hein and Co., Inc., 1976. This standard reference work is currently out of print and nearly 20 years old, but is still a great aid in finding resources related to South Carolina law. The authors organize tools of legal research by primary authority, secondary authority and legal citation. In the second part of the book, the authors detail the various South Carolina state constitutions, session laws, courts and case law and executive and administrative agency material. In addition, there is a section on materials for the practitioner. Materials are described in detail. Indexed. The appendices include checklists of various South Carolina legal resources.

Benson, Paula Gail and Davis, Deborah Ann. A Guide to South Carolina Legal Research and Citation. Columbia, S.C.: S.C. Bar CLE Division, 1991. This reference work, very similar to the Mills work described above, is more current. It is divided into Part 1 dealing with legal research and Part 2 dealing with legal citation. The legal research section is divided into further substantive sections and gives detailed information on various South Carolina legal resources. This handbook also refers to research materials that are not specifically focused on South Carolina. The legal citation section instructs the reader on the proper form of citation of South Carolina legal resources. The appendices contain a checklist of South Carolina legal resources, a diagram of the process of enacting a bill in the South Carolina General Assembly, an explanation of the legislative history of the South Carolina Code and quick rules on legal citation. Indexed.

South Carolina Jurisprudence. St. Paul, Minn.: West Group (for S.C. Bar CLE Division), 1991. This multi-volume set contains articles on various topics of South Carolina law written by practitioners in South Carolina. The articles vary in quality, but can be very useful in providing background on certain topics of South Carolina law. Subject index in separate volume. Annual supplement.

On The Record. South Carolina Department of Archives and History. This quarterly publication provides news on the collection and acquisition of materials at the South Carolina State Archives and is on the World Wide Web at www.state.sc.us/scdah/otr.htm. The South Carolina Archives and History Center is on the Web at <http://www.state.sc.us/scdah/>.

South Carolina Constitution

The current South Carolina Constitution is located in volume 21 of Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976).

South Carolina has been governed by several different state constitutions in its history: (1) New Line Charter of 1663; (2) The Fundamental Constitutions; (3) Constitution of 1776; (4) Constitution of 1778; (5) Constitution of 1790; (6) Constitution of 1861; (7) Constitution of 1865; (8) Constitution of 1868; and (9) Constitution of 1895.

The first five documents listed above can be found in Volume I, Statutes at Large of South Carolina, ed. Cooper and McCord (Columbia, S.C.: A.S. Johnston, 1836). The early constitutions of South Carolina can also be found in Parker, Mattie U.E. North Carolina Charters and Constitutions, 1578-1698. Raleigh, N.C.: Carolina Charter Tercentenary Commission, 1963. This volume has a good introduction providing background on the various constitutions that governed the Carolinas under British rule. In Colonial times, North Carolina and South Carolina were one British colony known as Carolina.

Collections of the South Carolina Historical Society. Charleston, S.C. The South Carolina Historical Society, 1857-1897. This five volume set contains early documents of the government of South Carolina.

The current Constitution of the State of South Carolina was adopted by a constitutional convention held in 1895. In order to ratify an amendment to the South Carolina Constitution, the following steps are required: (1) approval by two-thirds of the members of each house; (2) approval of the majority of voters at the next general election; and (3) approval by a majority of each house in the next General Assembly following voter approval in the general election. S.C. Const. Art. XVI, § 1. A constitutional convention may be called if two-thirds of the members of each house and a majority of the voters at the next general election approve. S.C. Const. Art. XVI, § 3.

The text of previous South Carolina constitutions may be located in the following editions of the South Carolina Code of Laws:

- General Statutes (1882) contains S.C. Const. (1868) at 25-44. Contains margin notes.
- Revised Statutes (1893)–Volume 2 contains S.C. Const. at 2157 (both dated 1894). Contains margin notes.
- 1902 Code–Volume 2 appendix contains S.C. Const. (1895) at 43-118 and S.C. Const. (1868) at 677-718. Contains notes and single index for all constitutions.
- 1912 Code–Volume 2 contains S.C. Const. (1895) at 595-676 and S.C. Const. (1868) at 677-718. Each constitution has annotations and a separate index.
- 1922 Code–Volume 1 contains S.C. Const. (1868) at 479-684. Contains an index.
- 1932 Code–Volume 1 contains S.C. Const. (1895) at 951-1198. Contains an index.
- 1942 Code–Volume 1 contains S.C. Const. (1895) at 1103-1394. Contains an index.
- 1952 Code–Volume 7 contains S.C. Const. (1895). Contains annotations and a separate index.
- 1962 Code–Volume 16 contains S.C. Const. (1895). Contains annotations and a separate index.

- 1976 Code–Volume 21 contains S.C. Const. (1895). Contains annotations and a separate index.

Records of the various South Carolina constitutional conventions may be useful in interpreting state constitutional provisions.

Edgar, Walter B. South Carolina: A History. Columbia, S.C.: USC Press, 1998. The first comprehensive history of South Carolina published in over 60 years. Mr. Edgar is a professor at the University of South Carolina and Director of the USC Institute for Southern Studies.

Statutes

Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976. This is the official Code of South Carolina published by the West Group. A World Wide Web version is available at <http://www.lpittr.state.sc.us/code/statmast.htm>.

Acts and Joint Resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina. This is the official session laws of the General Assembly of South Carolina and contains all acts and joint resolutions of the two houses. Any concurrent resolution is found in the Journal of the respective House or Senate.

House Journal and Senate Journal. These daily bulletins are collected and published annually in a bound volume. The daily journal contains in chronological order the activities of each of the House and Senate when in session, but does not provide much legislative history. Copies of the Journals can be found at the Legislative Council Offices in the State House, the University of South Carolina Coleman Karesh Law Library and other state document depositories. Current journals are available at www.lpittr.state.sc.us/today.htm. Back journals are available at www.lpittr.state.sc.us/basement.htm.

The General Assembly maintains a Web site that contains a legislative schedule, copies of bills and recently enacted laws, the South Carolina Code and the South Carolina State Constitution. The Web address is: www.lpittr.state.sc.us.

WESTLAW–SC–ST–ANN is the database identifier for the Code of Laws of South Carolina. BILL–TRACK–SC provides information on the status of bills before the South Carolina General Assembly.

LEXIS/NEXIS–CODE is the database identifier for the Code of Laws of South Carolina. SCTRCK provides information on the status of bills before the South Carolina General Assembly.

South Carolina Legislative Council. This office, whose phone number is 803-734-2145, makes available to the public copies of bills and acts and certain other publications. The Legislative Council maintains a Web site at which a researcher can check on the status of a bill by searching under the bill number. The Web address is <http://www.leginfo.state.sc.us/work/112/bills/billinfo.asp>. Copies of legislation are available on the Web at www.lpittr.state.sc.us.

Biographical Directory of the Senate of the State of South Carolina. Edgar, Walter P., ed., Columbia, S.C.: Archives Department, 1964. This directory includes, in addition to the list of South Carolina governors, lieutenant governors and legislative officials, a list by session of officers and members of the Senate from March 1776 through 1964, and biographical sketches of members of the State Senate.

Biographical Directory of the South Carolina House of Representatives. Edgar, Walter P., ed., Columbia, S.C.: USC Press, 1974. This five volume set, whose first volume was published in 1974, contains biographical sketches of the state representatives who served in the General Assembly.

Reports and Resolutions to the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina, published by the General Assembly, lists reports submitted annually to the General Assembly of South Carolina. Selected reports are available on the Web at www.lpittr.state.sc.us/reports.htm. Older reports are available at www.lpittr.state.sc.us/reports.htm.

Digest of House and Senate Bills and Resolutions, Legislative Council and Legislative Information Systems. This digest, first published in 1975, includes lists of bills and bill history.

Legislative Update, published by the South Carolina Chamber of Commerce. Contains abstracts of bills introduced in the General Assembly, contains background on the bills and the legislative process and expresses the Chamber's position on certain bills. www.sccc.org/99update.

Administrative Materials

South Carolina State Register. Published by the Legislative Council of the General Assembly and contains all proposed and final regulations of the various state administrative agencies in South Carolina. The Register also publishes important executive orders of the Governor. The State Register is available on the Web at www.lpittr.state.sc.us/register.htm.

Revenews is a quarterly publication of the South Carolina Department of Revenue and details recent developments in South Carolina tax law. Free subscriptions are available by contacting the Public Affairs Office, S.C. Department of Revenue, P.O. Box 125, Columbia, SC 29214. Back issues are available on the Web at www.dor.state.sc.us/revenews/revenews.html.

Summary of South Carolina Tax Law Changes, an annual publication of the S.C. Department of Revenue, details tax statutes enacted that year. The summary is organized by type of tax. Indexed. Available on the Web at www.dor.state.sc.us/pub.html.

Opinions of the Attorney General of South Carolina. These opinions are available at the Attorney General Web site at: www.scattorneygeneral.org/. These opinions are also available on WESTLAW, West Premise (CD-ROM) and LEXIS/NEXIS. While state agencies are bound by Attorney General opinions, South Carolina courts will consider but are not bound by these opinions. Price v. Watt, 313 S.E.2d 58 (S.C. App. 1984). Some Attorney General opinions were printed in the Annual Report of the Attorney General which ceased publication in 1994. Back issues contain copies of the opinions issued by the Attorney General during that year.

Administrative Law Judge Opinions. Available on the ALJ Web site maintained by the University of South Carolina School of Law: www.law.sc.edu/alj/alj.htm. These opinions are also available on WESTLAW, LEXIS and the West Premise (CD-ROM) product. The Administrative Law Judge division was created in 1994 and hears administrative appeals from all state agencies, but principally from the Department of Revenue and the Department of Health and Environmental Control.

South Carolina Administrative Code. This is a compilation of state regulations in South Carolina. A hard copy of the regulations is available in the last volumes of the Code of Laws of South Carolina 1976 published by West Group. The regulations are also available on WESTLAW, the West Premise (CD-ROM) product and Lexis/Nexis. The South Carolina State Register publishes proposed and final regulations and should always be consulted when updating South Carolina regulations published in the Code to insure that they are still current.

Executive Orders of the Governor. As noted above, the executive orders having a significant state-wide effect are published in the South Carolina State Register. Executive Orders are numbered by year and order of issuance (e.g., 97-01).

Checklist of South Carolina State Publications. This list is published by the South Carolina State Library and includes all documents printed by South Carolina State agencies. A list of selected South Carolina government publications available at the State Library is located at www.state.sc.us/scsl/spubsb.html. The State Documents Depository Act, S.C. Code Ann. § 60-22-0, provides that the South Carolina State Library is the official depository for all state government publications. All agencies are directed to send 15 copies of each publication to the State Library. The State Library Web page is www.state.sc.us/scsl/.

Shipley, David E. South Carolina Administrative Law. Columbia, S.C.: SC Bar CLE Division, 1989. Extensive overview of South Carolina administrative law and procedures. Includes forms. Subject index. Table of cases.

Case Reports

South Carolina Reports. This is the official case reporter of the South Carolina Supreme Court and the South Carolina Court of Appeals.² South Carolina Reports was first published beginning in 1887. Prior to that time there were separate law and equity reporters published privately. A detailed list of these older case reports is listed in Appendix A. Hardbound volumes with periodic updates.

Southeastern 2d Reporter and Southeastern Reporter. This case reporter published by the West Group contains appellate cases from Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia in addition to South Carolina. Hardbound volumes with periodic updates.

WESTLAW. Westlaw contains several databases dealing with South Carolina cases, including SC-CS (containing appellate cases since 1887) and SC-

ALJ (containing opinions of administrative law judges). The number of cases in WESTLAW is limited to those decided after 1887. Because South Carolina has a relatively small population, there is little case law compared to other states. Therefore, research of cases decided before 1887 is sometimes necessary to support legal arguments. The only way to access these cases is through the South Carolina Digest also published by West Group. The Westlaw Premise (CD-ROM), like the databases on WESTLAW, includes cases decided after 1887.

LEXIS/NEXIS. Lexis contains several databases dealing with South Carolina cases, including SCAPP (Supreme Court cases since 1965 and Court of Appeals cases since 1983).

Shearouse Advance Sheets. This is the best source for recent cases decided by the South Carolina Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of South Carolina. Subscriptions are available from the Clerk of the South Carolina Supreme Court, 1231 Gervais Street, Columbia, SC 29201. The cases in the Shearouse advance sheets appear several months before they appear in the advance sheets of the West Reporters. Recent South Carolina Supreme Court opinions are available on the Web at www.law.sc.edu/opinions/opinions.htm.

Recent South Carolina federal district court opinions are available at the Web site www.law.sc.edu/dsc/dsc.htm. This Web site is maintained by the Coleman Karesh Law Library of the University of South Carolina.

Citators

Shepard's Southeastern Reporter Citations. Colorado Springs, Colo.: Lexis Law Publishing (Shepard's). Hardbound, multipart volumes with periodic updates. A citation checking system including all citations by state and federal courts to all cases reported in West's Southeastern Reporter. Also included are citations to articles in the ABA Journal, legal practice texts, ALR annotations, and United States Supreme Court Reports, Lawyer's Edition. South Carolina case decisions that predate the Southeastern Reporter are found in Shepard's South Carolina Citations. Volumes are updated by softcover annual and cumulative supplements; newer supplements now include case names. Refer to the slip opinion reference table for those decisions that do not yet have reporter citations.

Shepard's South Carolina Citations. Colorado Springs, Colo.: Lexis Law Publishing (Shepard's). Hardbound volumes updated with periodic supplements. Includes references citing to South Carolina cases reported in the South Carolina Reports and the Southeastern Reporter (first and second series); references include reported decisions of South Carolina and federal courts, law reviews, other legal periodicals, and ALR annotations. Also included are references to the Code of Laws of South Carolina. Volumes are updated by an annual supplement and advance sheets. The most recent supplement may contain references to published decisions and docket numbers for those opinions that have not yet been given reporter citations.

Shepard's is now available on the Web: www.shepards.com (with a link to Lexis Xchange).

WESTLAW's Key Cite is also available on the Web at: www.westlaw.com.

South Carolina Blue and White Book. St. Paul, Minn.: West Group. Soft-bound, supplemented with cumulative pamphlets. A table gives cross-references from South Carolina Reports to the parallel citation in Southeastern Reporter (blue section). A second series of tables (white section) gives parallel citations from Southeastern Reporter to South Carolina Reports. (Tables begin with volume 25 of South Carolina Reports, which is volume 1 of Southeastern Reporter.)

Digests

South Carolina Digest 2d. Published by West Group. The prior set of this digest was South Carolina Digest. South Carolina Digest and South Carolina Digest 2d are organized by topic similar to other West digests. South Carolina Digest is especially useful in researching South Carolina cases decided prior to 1887, which are not on-line on WESTLAW or LEXIS/NEXIS. The South Carolina Digest summarizes cases decided after 1783 and prior to 1935.

Southeastern Digest 2d. This volume digests the appellate cases of South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, and Georgia. South Carolina Digest and South Carolina Digest 2d tend to be more detailed than this set and include more South Carolina cases.

The South Carolina Appellate Compendium. This publication summarizes South Carolina appellate judicial opinions. It ceased publication in late 1997.

South Carolina Lawletter. Charlottesville, Virginia: National Legal Research Group, Inc. This summary of South Carolina appellate opinions is published quarterly. The Lawletter is on the Web at www.nlrg.com/lawlet/sclawlet.htm.

Court Rules

The South Carolina Supreme Court promulgates the rules of court for both the appellate courts and Circuit Courts (trial courts) in South Carolina. Subject to statutory law, the Supreme Court shall make rules governing the practice and procedure in all courts of South Carolina. S.C. Const. Art. V, § 4. The court rules are submitted to the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives for approval. The rules become effective 90 days after the date of submission unless the General Assembly by concurrent resolution disapproves the rules by a vote of 3/5ths of the members of each House voting. S.C. Const. Art. V, § 4A. In summary, the South Carolina Supreme Court promulgates rules of the courts in South Carolina and the General Assembly may disapprove them by a 3/5 supermajority. In addition, the General Assembly may enact statutes that limit or change court rules in South Carolina.

South Carolina Court Rules and Procedures—State and Federal. This publication by West Group is updated each year and contains the S.C. Rules of Civil Procedure, the S.C. Rules of Evidence, and the rules of the State Courts (Family Court, Probate Court, Magistrate's Court).

South Carolina Court Register. Columbia, S.C.: S.C. Bar CLE Division. The only official publication of all the South Carolina Rules of Court. Updated annually. Contains current versions of all rules issued by the South Carolina Supreme Court.

South Carolina Rules of Court are also published in volume 22A of the Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976). This volume contains the Appellate Court Rules, the Rules of Civil Procedure, Criminal Procedure Rules, Rules of Evidence, Family Court Rules, Probate Court Rules, and Magistrate Court Rules. Annual Supplement. Table of Contents.

Local Rules of the United States District Court for South Carolina. Atlanta: Darby Printing Co., 1997. Last amended on February 21, 1997. The U.S. District Court for South Carolina maintains a Web site at www.scd.uscourts.gov/. Local Civil Court Rules and Local Criminal Court Rules are available on the Web at www.scd.uscourts.gov/docs/pubs.htm. Forms for practice before the U.S. District Court (such as an Affidavit for Service or Notice of Appeal) are available on the Web at www.scd.uscourts.gov/docs/forms.htm.

Directories

South Carolina Lawyers Desk Book. Published annually by the South Carolina Bar. Includes names and addresses of attorneys licensed to practice in South Carolina. Includes a subject and author index of articles published in the South Carolina Lawyer, various information (telephone number and address) on county officials and state agencies and biographies of all state judges. The South Carolina Bar maintains a directory of South Carolina attorneys on the Web at www.scbare.org/scbar/lawyerfind.asp.

South Carolina Legislative Manual. This small volume contains descriptions of all the state agencies, legislative agencies, and biographies of key state government officials. Published by the Legislative Council and edited by the Clerk of the House of Representatives. Updated annually. A copy is available on the World Wide Web at www.leginfo.state.sc.us/manual98/manual98.asp.

Martindale-Hubbell, South Carolina Volume. This familiar reference source attempts to list all attorneys in the country, and contains an extensive listing of attorneys in South Carolina. Lawyers who do not purchase a biographical entry are only listed in the index by city in which they practice. www.martindale.com/location/home.html.

South Carolina Legal Directory. This volume published annually by Legal Directories Publishing Company, Inc, contains information on attorneys in South Carolina and is organized by geographical area.

Directory of South Carolina Municipal Officials (Municipal Association of South Carolina). This annual directory includes names of local elected officials and key county employees. The Municipal Association of South Carolina maintains a Web site at www.masc.state.sc.us/2.html.

Directory of County Officials (South Carolina Association of Counties). This annual directory lists information on all elected and many appointed county officials in South Carolina. Selections from this directory are available on the Web at www.sccounties.org/counties.html.

The State of South Carolina Public Information Web site includes a directory of state officials. The Web site address for this directory is www.state.sc.us/phone/.

PERIODICALS

General

South Carolina Law Review. This is the principal law review of the University of South Carolina Law School, the only law school in South Carolina. Volume 15 to the present.
