FOOTBALL

Facing one of the nation's worst rushing defenses in Texas A&M, South Carolina was presented with an opportunity for a big day on the ground. Instead, the Gamecocks fell to the Texas A&M Aggies 11-28.

Interim head coach Shawn Elliott's emphasis on the ground game catapulted the team to victory last game against Vanderbilt, and this new strategy appeared to be having the same effect on Saturday.

All four of the Gamecocks touchdowns came on the ground, including a first-quarter touchdown run from backup quarterback Lorenzo Nunez. It was Nunez's sole appearance against Texas A&M but that may change next week as Orth had another subpar outing starting his third straight game.

Orth completed 15 of 33 passes for 192 yards on 24 attempts, but was intercepted twice down the stretch over any part of spring game. Despite Nunez's, Orth had another subpar outing starting his third straight game.

224 killed in commercial flight crash over Egypt

The New York Times reports that 224 Russian citizens perished this weekend when their commercial passenger jet went down over Egypt’s Sinai Peninsula. Early reports indicate that the plane broke apart in air, and flight recorders have been recovered and appear to have survived the crash. Officials claim that reports of terrorism have been “fabricated,” but investigators have not ruled out terrorism or mechanical failure as the cause of the disintegration. A national day of mourning was held in Russia Sunday in remembrance of the victims of the crash.

Unnamed Spring Valley administrator put on paid leave following incident

The Spring Valley High School administrator involved in the controversial arrest of a black female student caught on video at the school last week has been placed on administrative paid leave by Richland 2 School District officials according to The State. Additionally, classes taught by the teacher involved in the incident are currently being taught by a substitute teacher, though the original teacher has not been put on leave. The names of both the administrator and the teacher have not been disclosed to the public.

Shortly after 9 p.m on Thursday, a police officer pursued a 34-year-old African American man on a moped for speeding and driving without regard for pedestrians or other traffic. After following him around a corner, the officer found that the moped had stalled. The driver informed the officer that he did not have an ID, and the officer confirmed that he was wanted for probation violation. During the following search, the officer found three small plastic bags containing what the driver confirmed to be cocaine and marijuana.

Early in the morning Sunday, officers responded to a vehicle accident on West Edition Boulevard. There were three people in the car at the time of the collision, two of whom were out of the car when officers arrived. They told officers the driver had flung the scene, but he was found in the floorboard of the car. Officers descried him as unsteady and smelling of alcohol. The driver was taken to the hospital and put under arrest for driving under the influence.

On Tuesday at 9 a.m., officers responded to a call from the McDonald’s on Garners Ferry Road reporting a disturbance. When officers arrived, the employees said the suspect, a 38-year-old Caucasian male, left the store and headed toward Devine Street. He was located and approached at the previous Title Max building, which has been condemned due to flood damage. The suspect was unsteady and slurring his words, and he became agitated when officers approached him. He was arrested and taken to a detention center.

The blotter comes from police reports released by the USC Division of Law Enforcement and Safety and doesn’t include crimes reported by city or county law enforcement.

LASO brings together students of countless backgrounds to celebrate Latin American heritage and culture.

Once upon a time, there lived an armadillo whose sole dream came true. He begged the wizard transformed the armadillo’s shell into a beautiful instrument and gave the armadillo’s shell into a beautiful life for the ability to sing.

Many members, including the secretary of LASO and first-year pharmacy student Elizabeth Lichtig, emphasize the strong friendships they have made through the club. Fourth-year media arts student Christine Sheetsko, LASO’s Creative Director, attests to LASO’s welcoming atmosphere.

“Jaime Ortega, the former president, approached me in the library,” Sheetsko said. “I was studying at a table in Thomas Cooper Library, and I invited me to study with my friends who are all members of LASO. The root of history. This goes to show how welcoming, friendly and caring LASO members are on a daily basis.”

Its last large event was the Hispanic Heritage Month Kickoff on Sept. 9, the day Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua all declared independence. They are closely followed by the independence declarations of days of Mexico and Chile.

If you are interested in joining LASO, meetings are Wednesdays at 7 p.m. in Basili Hall. LASO’s mission is to welcome people for the sake of Latin American culture with fall festival出去 to be innovative and develop as leaders through enjoyable experiences with other students who are passionate about the same causes. Members come from a variety of academic studies, from mechanical engineering to philosophy.

“LASO is not only for people from a Latin American country. We welcome everyone who is interested in learning about our culture,” said fourth-year mechanical engineering student Eric Reyes, vice president of LASO. “From the students that want to practice their Spanish to the ones that want to experience our food and traditions, we welcome all.”

LASO emphasizes heritage, community and excellence through service, community activities. LASO gives its members an outlet to be innovative and develop as leaders through enjoyable experiences with other students who are passionate about the same causes. LASO’s mission is to welcome people for the sake of Latin American culture.

The Republican Party’s race in South Carolina is heating up. Last Wednesday’s CNBC debate illustrated the intensity that is the 2016 Republican primary season. Rather than acknowledge the dogfight nature of the campaign, the candidates instead blamed their infighting and federal investigations are sparring.

The men's soccer team, undefeated for the season, got the win over Old Dominion on Saturday after a 3-1 victory against conference foe Old Dominion.

Old Dominion entered the game with a 16-13-1 record. The Gamecocks defeated the Monarchs 1-0 in double overtime.

This was the Gamecocks' fourth time scoring three goals in one game.

The South Carolina volleyball team went 1-1 on the weekend, falling to No. 12 Florida 25-21 on Friday and defeating Ole Miss 3-0 on Saturday. The Gamecocks entered Friday's game facing a tough opponent, but kept things close in the first set. They put up a good fight, and there were a total of six lead changes and 14 ties throughout the set. The Gamecocks were eventually able to pull away to take the first set 25-22.

South Carolina did not have as much success in the second set, though, as the Rebels took control. The Gamecocks were eventually able to pull away to win the second set 25-21.

Looking for a comeback, the Gamecocks tried to rally in the third but could not come out on top, giving Florida a 25-21 win and clinching the match.

This win only added to head coach Mark Berson's record as the Gamecocks' 28 kills. South Carolina did not have as much success in the second set, but kept things close in the first set. The Texas A&M Aggies, on the other hand, gave the game the nod to true freshman quarterback Kyler Murray Saturday after finishing their previous two games. The Aggie quarterback from Allen, Texas won the starting job after head coach Kevin Sumlin opened the position in practice last week. Murray was named the starter after leading Texas A&M to a 1-0 record.

South Carolina is now 9-6 and is one of the top two seeds in the Southeastern Conference Tournament. The Gamecocks are one step closer to finishing their regular season games before they host Coastal Carolina next Saturday. South Carolina is now 9-6 and is one of the top two seeds in the Southeastern Conference Tournament.

The Gamecocks are one match away from completing an undefeated run at home.

Seniors Carly Ray and Emily Bollinger scored their first collegiate goals in the 2-0 victory against Tennessee.

South Carolina, which entered the week 18-12, defeated Tennessee 21-5 (10-2 on target). The Volunteers 21-5 (10-2 on target). The Volunteers were able to pull away to take the first set 25-22.
