Preserving Cultural and Natural Heritage - 2001

South Carolina Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology--University of South Carolina

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarcommons.sc.edu/archmonth_poster

Part of the Anthropology Commons

Publication Info

Published in 2001.
http://www.cas.sc.edu/sciaa/
© 2001 by University of South Carolina, South Carolina Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology

This Poster is brought to you by the Archaeology and Anthropology, South Carolina Institute of at Scholar Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Archaeology Month Posters by an authorized administrator of Scholar Commons. For more information, please contact dillarda@mailbox.sc.edu.
South Carolina Heritage Trust Program
25th Anniversary
Preserving Cultural and Natural Heritage

South Carolina Archaeology Month
September 8 – October 6, 2001
South Carolina Heritage Trust Program
25th Anniversary
Preserving Cultural and Natural Heritage

THE HERITAGE TRUST PROGRAM: AN OVERVIEW
By Chris决不

Without there are no armies, soldiers. Without armies there are no battles. The battles of history are won through cultural and natural heritage conservation. Without culture, there is no history. Without heritage, there is no future. This is the story of the Heritage Trust Program, a 25-year-old organization that has been preserving cultural and natural resources in South Carolina. The program has grown significantly since its inception, and it continues to evolve and expand.

The Heritage Trust Program is a non-profit organization that was established in 1993 to preserve and protect cultural and natural resources in South Carolina. The program is supported by a range of partners, including state and federal agencies, universities, and private foundations.

The program has been successful in preserving a wide range of cultural and natural resources, including historic sites, archaeological sites, and cultural landscapes. The program has also been successful in raising awareness about the importance of cultural and natural heritage conservation.

The Heritage Trust Program has been recognized for its work, and has received numerous awards and honors. The program has been praised for its innovative approach to cultural and natural heritage conservation.

The Heritage Trust Program continues to work towards the preservation of cultural and natural heritage in South Carolina. The program is committed to ensuring that future generations can continue to enjoy and appreciate the richness of South Carolina's cultural and natural heritage.