The ACLU has taken a stand against the Tea Party activists as crazies with nutty ideas.

"That's crazy is 170 legislators deciding who provides you with medical care," she said.

"I don't see it all making a difference inside," he said, pointing to the doors of the State House.

"We're trying to fight this growing government, taxes and bigger government," said Rep. Todd Rutherford, a Democrat from Columbia.

"These rallies are kind of routine to calling local businesses like Food Lion and Target to ask for donations."

One wooden sign held near the podium said it was time for tar and feathers. Another cardboard one on a podium said it was time for tax and teabagging, but their messages resonated all the same.

Thursday ranged from an 8-year-old Spartanburg boy who belted "God Bless America" to Mimi, a petite woman in her 80s who said she's fed up with big government and more taxes.

"I don't see it all making a difference inside," she said, pointing to the doors of the State House.

"We're trying to fight this growing government, taxes and bigger government," said Rep. Todd Rutherford, a Democrat from Columbia.
said the worst part of planning the festival was “begging people for money.”

On the other hand, King and Soluiman said the most rewarding part of planning the festival was getting to see the ins and outs of the business, as well as getting contacts in the industry.

“We went to Blue Marlin Catering Company and they offered us all jobs,” King said.

Morgan Fields’ mother, Kimberly Fields, owner of Perfect Pallet catering company in Greenville, was among the lineup of judges for the grits cook-off. Kerri Hutchins, kitchen manager at the McCutcheon House, was also a judge. Hutchins said her criteria for the grits she would be judging was “creativity, and anything good and creamy, not crunchy.”

Hutchins’ daughter, 13-year-old Cassie Hutchins, who had a purple and pink tiara painted on her face from the face painting station, said she enjoyed sampling the grits and the “nice and welcoming environment” at the festival. “The grits have been good so far,” Hutchins said. “I like them cheesy, creamy, and with gravy.”

Comments on this story?
E-mail sagcknew@mailbox.sc.edu

Relay ● Continued from 1

management student Lindsay Dunn said she plans to register with Team Columbia Hall soon. “I think Relay for Life is a great cause,” Dunn said. “It is also a great way for our whole hall to hang out and see each other before we leave for the summer.”

Participants can also purchase luminaries at the event in honor of those touched by the disease. Third-year early childhood education student Stephanie Ham has participated for three years, but this year will be her first serving as USC’s luminary chair. As a family member of four cancer survivors, Ham said that she has high hopes for tonight’s event. “Things are going good and there has been a big increase in luminaries.” Ham said. “It’s been difficult to get people to sign up but once they know what it is about they are really interested.”

Like Ham and many of tonight’s participants, the organization’s cause is personal. After his mother passed away several weeks ago after her fight with cancer, second-year exercise science student Patrick Lawler raised more than $5,000 for group Team Jameson with the help of his rugby team. The team has also held a bachelor auction and other charity events, earning more than $1,500 for Lawler’s cause. Tonight will be Lawler’s first Relay for Life experience, and he plans to stick it out through the night. “For me, Relay for Life is a nice experience to honor my mom’s memory and to give back to everyone else who has supported us through everything,” Lawler said. Though Brown has never participated before, she said she is glad to support and donate to a worthy cause. “I’m going to try and stay the whole time,” she said. “I feel like walking 12 hours is nothing to battling cancer.”

Relay for Life kicks off at 7 p.m. on Blatt Field. Interested participants can register online at www.relayforlife.org.

Comments on this story?
E-mail sagcknew@mailbox.sc.edu
I ❤️ BASEBALL

Upcoming Home Games:
4/16 vs. Mississippi at 7 p.m.
4/17 vs. Mississippi at 3 p.m.
4/18 vs. Mississippi at 1:30 p.m.
4/20 vs. USC Upstate at 7 p.m.
LOCAL

Support for Sanford remains

South Carolina Gov. Mark Sanford remains popular among the tea party supporters he let down last year when he went from a rising star advocating their aims to a confessed adulterer.

The Republican governor won applause Thursday at a tea party rally at the Statehouse where more than 1,000 people gathered.

But there were also a few hecklers. Edward Quick of Sumter shouted "traitor" in Sanford’s wake. "A better idea would be for you to return what you've stolen already," Quick shouted as Sanford talked about the Senate’s approval Wednesday of raising the nation’s lowest cigarette tax of 7 cents to 57 cents a pack.

But Quick was far outnumbered in the crowd by people like Dan Rogers, a retiree and Greenville tea party activist. He, like many in the crowd, found a new context for Sanford, who was regarded as the messenger for imperfect people in all walks of life."

"These things are surprisingly small," Lattis said. He noted meteor showers can produce streaks visible from miles away even though the objects that are burning up might be the size of a grain of sand.

"There were reports of four to five minutes of explosions or rumbling," he said. He couldn’t say what the sound was but speculated it might have been a sonic boom if the meteor broke the sound barrier.

A dashboard camera in the squad car of a Howard County sheriff’s deputy in Iowa caught a glimpse of the fireball. In the video, the object streaks toward the ground, then swells and brightens in an apparent explosion before disappearing behind a distant clump of trees.

"I don't stand as tall as I once did," Sanford said. "But what I know and what I take solace in is God can use imperfect people in all walks of life."

NATIONAL

Meteor lights up Midwest sky

Milwaukee — A large meteor streaked across the Midwest sky momentarily turning night into day, rattling houses and causing prey and the ground to shake, authorities said Thursday. There were no immediate reports of injuries.

Witnesses say the meteor lit up the sky Wednesday about 10:10 p.m. National Weather Service offices across the Midwest said it was visible from southwestern Wisconsin and northern Iowa to central Missouri.

Radar information suggests the meteor landed in the southeast corner of Wisconsin, either Grant or Lafayette counties, said Ashley Sears, a meteorologist with the National Weather Service’s Milwaukee office. Officials in both counties said no one reported seeing a meteor or crater.

Lafayette County Sheriff Scott Peffley said his office received multiple reports of a very bright light in the sky followed by houses and the ground shaking.

"There were reports of four to five minutes of explosions or rumbling," he said. He couldn’t say what the sound was but speculated it might have been a sonic boom if the meteor broke the sound barrier. The governor probably disappointed the people of South Carolina more than any politicians that I know of because he was so right on the issues. I never heard the moon say a thing that I disagreed with him on. And he was fighting the big fight," Rogers said. But now he says Sanford is keeping a low profile with no signs of trying to pull off a comeback. "I'm hopeful that as time passes, he will re-engage." Sanford seems more comfortable with where he is. In his State of the State address in January, he made what he said was his last public apology for the affair. His divorce for Sanford, who was regarded as the messenger for thousands of people, from tourists and business travelers to politicians and royals. They couldn’t see the source of their inspiration — except indirectly, when the ash cloud veiled red and lavender sunsets.

Non-emergency flights in Britain were canceled, and most will stay grounded until at least midday Friday. Authorities in Iceland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Belgium also closed their air space. France shut down 24 airports, including the main hub of Charles de Gaulle in Paris, Germany’s Berlin and Hamburg were shut Thursday evening, and several flights out of the U.S. had to double back. Kyfa Evans, spokeswoman for air traffic service Eurocontrol, said half of all trans-Atlantic flights were expected to be canceled Friday.

At London’s Heathrow airport, normally one of the world’s busiest with more than 1,200 flights and 180,000 travelers a day, passengers waited forlornly at departure boards on which every flight was listed as canceled.

"We made it all the way to take off on the plane. ... They even showed us the safety video," said Sarah Davis, 29, a physiotherapist from Portsmouth in southern England who was hoping to fly to Los Angeles. "I’m upset. I only get so much vacation." A volcano beneath Iceland’s Eyjafjallajokull (ay-yah-fyahl-uh-yah-plah-yer-kuh-duhl) glacier began erupting Wednesday for the second time in less than a month, triggering floods and shutting down airports across the island.

INTERNATIONAL

Flights canceled due to ash

London — An enormous ash cloud from a remote Icelandic volcano caused the biggest flight disruption since the 2001 terrorist attacks Thursday as it drifted over northern Europe and stranded thousands on six continents. Officials said it could take days for the skies to become safe again in one of aviation’s most congested areas.

The cloud, floating miles above Earth and capable of knocking out jet engines, wrecked travel plans for tens of thousands of people, from tourists and business travelers to politicians and royals. They couldn’t see the source of their inspiration — except indirectly, when the ash cloud veiled red and lavender sunsets.

Non-emergency flights in Britain were canceled, and most will stay grounded until at least midday Friday. Authorities in Iceland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Belgium also closed their air space. France shut down 24 airports, including the main hub of Charles de Gaulle in Paris, Germany’s Berlin and Hamburg were shut Thursday evening, and several flights out of the U.S. had to double back. Kyfa Evans, spokeswoman for air traffic service Eurocontrol, said half of all trans-Atlantic flights were expected to be canceled Friday.

At London’s Heathrow airport, normally one of the world’s busiest with more than 1,200 flights and 180,000 travelers a day, passengers waited forlornly at departure boards on which every flight was listed as canceled.

"We made it all the way to take off on the plane. ... They even showed us the safety video," said Sarah Davis, 29, a physiotherapist from Portsmouth in southern England who was hoping to fly to Los Angeles. "I’m upset. I only get so much vacation." A volcano beneath Iceland’s Eyjafjallajokull (ay-yah-fyahl-uh-yah-plah-yer-kuh-duhl) glacier began erupting Wednesday for the second time in less than a month, triggering floods and shutting down airports across the island.

---

Visit www.dailygamecock.com

I’M ALL ABOUTgettIng AHEAD THIS SUMMER.

Summer is here and you’re back in town—so now what?

With multiple campus sites or through GPC online, Georgia Perimeter College is the perfect place to log some extra class time and knock out that Chem course that’s been haunting you or just get ahead to close the gap between you and graduation. GPC courses approved by your institution are transferable, so don’t even sweat that detail. Just remember, before you hit your favorite summer hangout, make sure you’re registered by the April 1 deadline to make the summer class cut!

What will your summer be all about? Find out at Georgia Perimeter College.

info.gpc.edu

Georgia Perimeter College

Two Years That Will Change Your Life

FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 2010

THE DAILY GAMECOCK

PAGE 4
Isolating HIV inmates appropriate?

The S.C. Corrections Department is defending its prison policy of separating HIV-positive inmates from others. The ACLU has opposed this policy, saying it infringes on the freedoms of privacy of the HIV-infected inmates, who once lived in the Korangal Outpost will have

The Korangal Valley, exception to Afghan norms

American troops have improved life in majority of country, while stubborn villagers make certain areas hopeless

The war in Afghanistan has been a roller coaster of victories and defeats since its beginning in October 2001. American soldiers have been fighting in the country for nine years this October. What have they to show for it? More than in previous wars, Afghanistan has proved to be a difficult and long war to win. Afghan life is still a dangerous and uncertain place for ordinary Afghan people. The situation is not improving as fast as the American government would like. As invasion of privacy, civil rights

It’s unfair to say that governments will be the ultimate solution of providing condoms isn’t realistic. We must acknowledge that portfolios, the editor reserves the right to edit All submissions become the property of The Daily Gamecock

By the time you read this, the American soldiers have brought the country of Afghanistan as far as they’ve ever been. Millions of Afghan girls are now in school (a right that governments will be the ultimate solution of providing condoms isn’t realistic. We must acknowledge that portfolios, the editor reserves the right to edit All submissions become the property of The Daily Gamecock

The S.C. Corrections Department is defending its prison policy of separating HIV-positive inmates from others. The ACLU has opposed this policy, saying it infringes on the freedoms of privacy of the HIV-infected inmates, who once lived in the Korangal Outpost will have Pastel all-over eye shadow was a trend featured with many of the spring runway looks instead of the same old smoky eye look. At Michael Kors, the look was applied by lining the eyes with a black pencil, adding gold shimmer into the inner corners of the eye and then a light blue or purple shadow up to the crease, then smudge the shadow on the lid and add black mascara.

Ribbons as hair accessories were worn this season on the Zac Posen runway. This is a look that could easily be styled for everyday or to add some punch to your updo for a night out. Simply braid a bright ribbon or a pastel colored one into a slicked back chignon or long braid and go. The key to this is creating a very sharp look from the front and a pop of color in the back.

Textured manicures are one way to shake up the habit of using a simple pink polish or the trendy dark polishes with a new spin. Simply use a dark, opaque shade first and then add a coat of sparkly polish with chunky glitter over top. This nail look adds some dimension and is a perfect accessory to your spring look. It can be worn in several versatile ways with different base color coats and different textured top coats.

Bumped up hair is a trend that always comes back in style. We aren’t talking an endorsement of “Bumpits” or to go for that Snooki-style of “Jersey Shore,” this look is to invoke the glamorous Audrey Hepburn-style of past. This style can be worn either up in a pumped-up bun or down in a loose style as seen on the runway this season for Paul & Joe. To get this look, hair was parted on the side, teased at the crown and texturizer is used. The updo could both easily be worn for class, just follow the previous steps and pull up into either a bun or a loose ponytail with some face-framing bangs left loose.

A loose braid wrapped around the hairline with light loose waves in the back is a look that star Mary-Kate Olsen wore to perfection at a recent event. All it takes is creating a long loose braid on one side and wrapping it across the hairline where it is pinned on the other side. Use a big-barrel curling iron to create big flowing loose waves in the back along with a texturizing gel to emphasize that piece-y look.

Statement lips have been a recurring trend on the runways for the past few seasons of fashion week. This look is best reserved for a special night out instead of during the day going to classes or running errands. This look was permanently displayed in the past by the likes of Madonna and Marilyn Monroe and today a top pick by stars like Rihanna. The top pick lipsticks are in bright fuschia pinks, a very light pink color or an orange-y red color. It is absolutely necessary to pair this look with very light make-up on the rest of the face to avoid looking clownish and to pull it off effortlessly.

Choose your look wisely and be fashionable!
Summer’s fashionable flip-flops

Assistant Mix Editor Kelsey Pacer puts the two most popular summer shoe brands toe-to-toe to determine which pair will dominate this season’s sandy shores.

Rainbows:

Durability: Countless people rave that they’ve been able to keep their Rainbows going strong for several summers. Others complain that they wear through the soles within just a few months. The straps on Rainbows are very durable and stay put — the soles, however, can flatten out with pressure over time. The double-layered arch Rainbows always last at least a couple of seasons, so they’re the best bet for longevity with this brand.

Comfort: Breaking in Rainbows is admittedly a painful process — they’re cut very narrowly to begin with and you need to stretch them out wear-by-wear. Do not try to break them in over the course of one day — your poor toes will ache for days. Instead, try wearing them in short stints whenever you can to loosen them up. Once these sandals are broken in though, you might never want to take them off! After some wear, the leather gets extremely soft and it feels better to have them on than not!

Style: Rainbows in their natural brown colors are perfect neutrals, and depending on how tan you are, can almost blend into your skin tone. The flip-flops also come in countless other colors, including red, white, black and green, so you can mix-and-match depending on outfits. Rainbows are cut narrowly, so they can make your feet look neat and slim.

Havaianas:

Durability: These rubber sandals can really take a beating. They can withstand water and be bent easily. Unlike most plastic or rubber flip-flops, the rubber thong part of the shoe does not easily pop out of its holes, which makes Havaianas sturdier and a lot more safe than their cheaper counterparts.

Comfort: Havaianas are basic rubber sandals, so they will never have the same feel as butter-soft leather. However, for anyone who wants to avoid animal products on their feet, these flip-flops are made out of very smooth, soft rubber. While many flip-flop thong straps stretch out over time, these do not, so do not buy a size down and expect them to loosen up.

Style: Havaianas come in many styles and dozens of different colors. They have solid colors, metallics and Brazilian motifs, just to name a few. Havaianas that don’t fit well can have the look of “shower shoes,” so tread carefully and find the style that fits you best to look great.

Comments on this story? E-mail sagcketc@mailbox.sc.edu
Inside the Box • By Marleane Lorenz • The Daily Gameduck

PhD • By Jorge Chapa

Calendar of Events

What: Korean Christian Fellowship Bible Study
When: 9 a.m.
Where: Russell House, Room 303

What: KDP Spring Fundraiser
When: 10 a.m.
Where: Greene Street

What: Social Work Advocacy Table
When: 11:30 a.m.
Where: Greene Street

What: Golden Key Info Meeting
When: 1 p.m.
Where: RH, Golden Key Room

What: Phi Alpha Induction Ceremony
When: 5 p.m.
Where: Rutledge Chapel

What: World Night 2010
When: 6:30 p.m.
Where: RH Ballroom

SPORTS SCHEDULE

Baseball
Mississippi
7 p.m.
Columbia, S.C.

Men’s Golf
SEC Championship
All Day
St. Simons Island, Ga. (Sea Island GC)

The Scene

TODAY

THE CASUAL KINGS, ONE WAY OUT, COLUMBUS, TRAVEL HORSE BAND
8:30 p.m., $5 + $4 in advance
at 21 SC on U of SC campus
New Brookland Tavern, 122 St. Mary’s

DISNEY ON ICE
10:40 a.m. & 7 p.m., $39 to $102
 Colonial Life Arena, 601 Lincoln St.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE SERIES PRESENTS LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC QUARTET
7:30 p.m., Free
USC School of Architecture, Geffken Hall, #3
Assembly St.

TOMORROW

15TH ANNUAL COLUMBIA INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL
9 a.m. - 9 p.m., $4 in advance, $5 at door
at SC State Fairgrounds, 1200 Rosewood Dr.

3RD ANNUAL RIVERWALK MUSIC FESTIVAL
2-9 p.m., Free
West Columbia Riverwalk Amphitheater, 120 Alexander St.

INDIES STUDENT SHOWCASE
TOMORROW

JAY CLIFFORD & STEVEN FOER & JEREMY CURRENT
7:30 p.m., $5 student; $10 day of show
The White Mule, 1510 Main St.

The Scene

TODAY

THE CASUAL KINGS, ONE WAY OUT, COLUMBUS, TRAVEL HORSE BAND
8:30 p.m., $5 + $4 in advance
at 21 SC on U of SC campus
New Brookland Tavern, 122 St. Mary’s

DISNEY ON ICE
10:40 a.m. & 7 p.m., $39 to $102
 Colonial Life Arena, 601 Lincoln St.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE SERIES PRESENTS LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC QUARTET
7:30 p.m., Free
USC School of Architecture, Geffken Hall, #3
Assembly St.

TOMORROW

15TH ANNUAL COLUMBIA INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL
9 a.m. - 9 p.m., $4 in advance, $5 at door
at SC State Fairgrounds, 1200 Rosewood Dr.

3RD ANNUAL RIVERWALK MUSIC FESTIVAL
2-9 p.m., Free
West Columbia Riverwalk Amphitheater, 120 Alexander St.

INDIES STUDENT SHOWCASE
TOMORROW

JAY CLIFFORD & STEVEN FOER & JEREMY CURRENT
7:30 p.m., $5 student; $10 day of show
The White Mule, 1510 Main St.

Mississippi Baseball
7 p.m.
Columbia, S.C.

Men’s Golf
SEC Championship
All Day
St. Simons Island, Ga. (Sea Island GC)

The Scene

TODAY

THE CASUAL KINGS, ONE WAY OUT, COLUMBUS, TRAVEL HORSE BAND
8:30 p.m., $5 + $4 in advance
at 21 SC on U of SC campus
New Brookland Tavern, 122 St. Mary’s

DISNEY ON ICE
10:40 a.m. & 7 p.m., $39 to $102
 Colonial Life Arena, 601 Lincoln St.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE SERIES PRESENTS LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC QUARTET
7:30 p.m., Free
USC School of Architecture, Geffken Hall, #3
Assembly St.

TOMORROW

15TH ANNUAL COLUMBIA INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL
9 a.m. - 9 p.m., $4 in advance, $5 at door
at SC State Fairgrounds, 1200 Rosewood Dr.

3RD ANNUAL RIVERWALK MUSIC FESTIVAL
2-9 p.m., Free
West Columbia Riverwalk Amphitheater, 120 Alexander St.

INDIES STUDENT SHOWCASE
TOMORROW

JAY CLIFFORD & STEVEN FOER & JEREMY CURRENT
7:30 p.m., $5 student; $10 day of show
The White Mule, 1510 Main St.

The Scene

TODAY

THE CASUAL KINGS, ONE WAY OUT, COLUMBUS, TRAVEL HORSE BAND
8:30 p.m., $5 + $4 in advance
at 21 SC on U of SC campus
New Brookland Tavern, 122 St. Mary’s

DISNEY ON ICE
10:40 a.m. & 7 p.m., $39 to $102
 Colonial Life Arena, 601 Lincoln St.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE SERIES PRESENTS LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC QUARTET
7:30 p.m., Free
USC School of Architecture, Geffken Hall, #3
Assembly St.

TOMORROW

15TH ANNUAL COLUMBIA INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL
9 a.m. - 9 p.m., $4 in advance, $5 at door
at SC State Fairgrounds, 1200 Rosewood Dr.

3RD ANNUAL RIVERWALK MUSIC FESTIVAL
2-9 p.m., Free
West Columbia Riverwalk Amphitheater, 120 Alexander St.

INDIES STUDENT SHOWCASE
TOMORROW

JAY CLIFFORD & STEVEN FOER & JEREMY CURRENT
7:30 p.m., $5 student; $10 day of show
The White Mule, 1510 Main St.

The Scene

TODAY

THE CASUAL KINGS, ONE WAY OUT, COLUMBUS, TRAVEL HORSE BAND
8:30 p.m., $5 + $4 in advance
at 21 SC on U of SC campus
New Brookland Tavern, 122 St. Mary’s

DISNEY ON ICE
10:40 a.m. & 7 p.m., $39 to $102
 Colonial Life Arena, 601 Lincoln St.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE SERIES PRESENTS LOS ANGELES PHILHARMONIC QUARTET
7:30 p.m., Free
USC School of Architecture, Geffken Hall, #3
Assembly St.
Both South Carolina men's and women's golf teams will kick off their seasons this weekend in the SEC Championship. The No. 1 men will be looking to continue their great momentum as they play in St. Simon's Island, Ga., this weekend. The par-70, 7,013 yard course will prove to be a tough test for the Gamecock golfers, and the field features nine teams ranked in the top 50.

USC is coming off a big second place finish at the Administrator Staff Invitational. George Bryan IV and Paul Woodbury both tied for third in the event at 10-under-par. As a team, Carolina had the fourth lowest tournament score in school history with 833, but could not overcome a very hot, and especially with Pomeranz on the mound, but that's part of it. At least they're coming into our place," Tanner said. The Gamecocks tagged Pomeranz last year in Oxford. Carolina scored nine runs on the left-hander, four of which were earned, and knocked him out of the game after 1.2 innings on route to a 12-10 USC victory.

Junior Scott Wingo, fresh off of hitting two home runs against The Citadel on Wednesday, will continue to hit hard against Pomeranz. He's got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this season. That matchup will also be important for the Gators, who are ranked fourth nationally and have won their last 12 consecutive matches. USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.

"He's a lock for the NCAA Tournament," USC coach Kent Smith said. "We've got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend. I'll be interesting to see how he finishes up."

Facing a top ten opponent for the fourth time in the last five matches, the Gamecocks will look to take what they've learned in the first three and use it to their advantage. "These teams are all very good and have a chance to win a national championship, but I don't think we're in a rush," DeMars said. "It's a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend.

After tough 4-1 defeats at the hands of Tennessee and Georgia last weekend, the Carolina women's tennis team plans its final match of the regular season tomorrow at home against Florida. Although USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.

"He's a lock for the NCAA Tournament," USC coach Kent Smith said. "We've got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend. I'll be interesting to see how he finishes up."

Facing a top ten opponent for the fourth time in the last five matches, the Gamecocks will look to take what they've learned in the first three and use it to their advantage. "These teams are all very good and have a chance to win a national championship, but I don't think we're in a rush," DeMars said. "It's a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend.

After tough 4-1 defeats at the hands of Tennessee and Georgia last weekend, the Carolina women's tennis team plans its final match of the regular season tomorrow at home against Florida. Although USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.

"He's a lock for the NCAA Tournament," USC coach Kent Smith said. "We've got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend. I'll be interesting to see how he finishes up."

Facing a top ten opponent for the fourth time in the last five matches, the Gamecocks will look to take what they've learned in the first three and use it to their advantage. "These teams are all very good and have a chance to win a national championship, but I don't think we're in a rush," DeMars said. "It's a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend.

After tough 4-1 defeats at the hands of Tennessee and Georgia last weekend, the Carolina women's tennis team plans its final match of the regular season tomorrow at home against Florida. Although USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.

"He's a lock for the NCAA Tournament," USC coach Kent Smith said. "We've got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend. I'll be interesting to see how he finishes up."

Facing a top ten opponent for the fourth time in the last five matches, the Gamecocks will look to take what they've learned in the first three and use it to their advantage. "These teams are all very good and have a chance to win a national championship, but I don't think we're in a rush," DeMars said. "It's a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend.

After tough 4-1 defeats at the hands of Tennessee and Georgia last weekend, the Carolina women's tennis team plans its final match of the regular season tomorrow at home against Florida. Although USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.

"He's a lock for the NCAA Tournament," USC coach Kent Smith said. "We've got a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend. I'll be interesting to see how he finishes up."

Facing a top ten opponent for the fourth time in the last five matches, the Gamecocks will look to take what they've learned in the first three and use it to their advantage. "These teams are all very good and have a chance to win a national championship, but I don't think we're in a rush," DeMars said. "It's a tough task playing the No. 4 player in the country this weekend.

After tough 4-1 defeats at the hands of Tennessee and Georgia last weekend, the Carolina women's tennis team plans its final match of the regular season tomorrow at home against Florida. Although USC would have benefitted from wins in last week's contests, the team was not hurt by the losses. We went 1-2-2 overall with no one in the team we could have drafted early in the MLB draft this June. Coach Ray Tanner is well aware of Pomeranz' potential.
Additional Info
Two-line minimum
Lines average 30 characters in length

Additional options
Box around: $1.25
Logo insertion available for an additional cost

E-mail: sholmes@mailbox.sc.edu • Office hours: M-F 8:30 am - 5 pm • Russell House, Rm. 343

Place a Classified ad: p 803-777-3888 • 1-803-777-6482 • www.dailygamecock.com

Line classified ad rates
First insertion: $2.50 per line
Subsequent: $1.50 per line

DEADLINE
Now, 1 business day prior to publication